As One Goes Around

Rear-Admiral W. H. Standley became Ambassador to Russia since I last saw him. He is one of my most admired friends. Every time he comes to visit his sisters who live here, Admiral Standley comes in and we have a long talk. Admiral Standley never asks you not to repeat what he tells you and I know no newspaperman who would throw him down, but he never leaves you but what he tells you many things that can be worked into stories like those that appear in this column. Admiral Standley sat here in the office with me more than and hour today and he told me many things. I asked the ex-Ambassador to Russia about Joseph Stalin and he told me he was a powerful personality, a hard-to-understand man and one seldom seen. People in this country do not grasp the real Russian and his life, nor do they appreciate the vastness and greatness of Soviet land. Admiral Standley said Premier Stalin had not misled this country about his stand on Japan. He had, definitely, stated to high-ranking officials of this country, possibly at Yalta, what he could be expected to do and had assured them that, at the right time, he would attack Japan. He wanted to be sure he was prepared, when he struck. The Russians cannot be held back. No stronger ally could be had than Josef Stalin. He is going to handle countries that border on Russia firmly, but not oppressively, and their cohesion with Russia will work out for their own good. The Russians are going to be educated, they are hard workers and they are going to build up a vast army and a great navy. They want to be friendly and, Admiral Standley does not think it good policy to refuse to work with them. President Roosevelt named Admiral Standley on the Roberts committee to investigate the Pearl Harbor attack. He went there, got the facts and had the backbone to present them as he saw them and today, when I asked him, if he had changed his mind about Pearl Harbor, Ambassador Standley, after telling me many situations I did not know of, held to the finding he presented President Roosevelt immediately after the Pearl Harbor outrage was investigated by himself and other members of the Roberts Commission. When I talked to Ambassador Standley he recalled a conversation we had when last we met in which he insisted, as all Naval men would be expected to, no war could be won without the Navy. He, at that time, said airplanes would help immensely. Today he naively told me what a tremendous service the planes had performed, but he left me with the conviction the Navy paved the way. Ambassador Standley, probably, is this country's Naval top authority when all is said and done. He retired as Rear Admiral, and he knows all the answers so, when, after our hour's talk, he went away, I felt America must maintain a great Navy from now on and I accepted the conclusion of Admiral Standley, that in future years, perhaps not too long, retention of big navies by the great powers will force aggressive countries to learn they have to behave themselves and that war will be, forever, banned.

No, Earl Lee Kelly is not going to run for Governor.

A large group of Republicans, who are not satisfied with Governor Earl Warren, recently polled the State to test political sentiment. The poll showed Mr. Kelly had the lead in approval by Republicans as a candidate for head of the ticket, but, at the same time, it was feared he would not be able to attract as many non-partisans or Democrats as Governor Warren, probably, could. It developed big business executives would not contribute as they did last time for Governor Warren. It was plain, too, Republican leaders were out of step with the executive and this holds true of numerous newspapers. Here is what close observers believe will happen: The Los Angeles Times will support Houser against Knowland. Senator Sheridan Downey will announce his candidacy for Governor. If he is elected he will appoint Attorney General Bob Kenny (who will run again this coming election for Attorney General) United States Senator, as Senator Downey's successor. Democratic National leaders will provide the campaign fund for the fight to carry California. The Republicans have no State organization. Labor is Democratic and will vote that way. Although Governor Warren has been overly kind to the labor leaders, Downey will carry the State labor vote. He has been an open champion for old-age pensioners and they cannot be expected to vote against him. Then there is the almost unbroken state turning down of the practice of a Governor serving two successive terms that has to be reckoned with, but, on my trip last week to the city, I talked with the two most powerful Labor Officials of the Bay district and, greatly to my amazement, each stated Governor Warren could win.

That is the way the political band wagon rocks along.

Fred Fornoff was an early-day City Marshal of Albuquerque, New Mexico. He was a quiet six-footer, barrel built and usually had a toothpick in his mouth. He handled dangerous situations with tact and few shooting scrapes developed in which Fred Fornoff was mixed up, although he never stepped away from an episode that might take a bad turn. Railroad avenue was Albuquerque's main business street in my time. On it were Zeiger's, The St. Elemo and The White Elephant saloons. Nellie Driscoll, Lizzie McGrath and Minnie Carroll operated swank brothels; each of them had five or six girls connected with their houses. At two o'clock in the morning the sporting houses would close and the girls would come down town and thereafter you would see them drinking in the larger saloons mentioned. Fred Fornoff would make it as disagreeable as he could to keep the women out of the saloons in the early morning hours—He simply would not permit one of them going into a saloon in the day time. He had a violent uncompromising hatred about women drinking. I recall one night I was with a group of New Mexicans standing on a corner with Marshal Fornoff when, on looking across to a corner, Marshal Fornoff saw a bevy of sporting women entering Zeiger's and he immediately became burned up. "Look at them dames going into Charlie's," he exploded. "The next thing you will see is they will be smoking cigarettes!" Years afterwards, one night, I ran on Fred Fornoff in Butte, Montana. He was then a Secret Service man and had made a fine record in his government job.

AUSTIN J. MUIR, ILL FEW DAYS, DIED THURSDAY

Little Lake Pioneer Was 77 At Time Of Passing

HAD A UNIQUE HONOR

Tapped Natural Gas Supply For Use In His Home

Special Correspondence of The Press

WILLITS, Oct. 1.—Austin Jefferson Muir died at the hospital Thursday following a short illness. Up to quite recently he was about town every day and did light work. He was born in Coyote Valley, near Ukiah, November, 30, 1868, and lacked but a short time of being 77 years of age. The following year his parents moved to this valley, where his father homesteaded the place now known as Sunnybrook ranch. Deceased followed ranching most of his life and for some years was in partnership with his brother, Will Muir, and they operated what is now the Folsom ranch, near Hearst. When the railroad was extended to Willits in 1900 Mr. Muir came to Willits and engaged in the meat business in what was then known as the Little Lake Market and was very successful. He was a good business man. He sold the market to Deed Wimmer in 1910 and returned to ranching in the valley.

Ran Poultry Farm.

Up to a few years ago he conducted a successful poultry farm and while living on the ranch he dug wells and caught the natural gas that was escaping. He conducted it in pipes to his home and barn and used it for lighting purposes. This lighting plant created more than local interest and led to the drilling for oil in the valley but the wells

OAKS TRAGEDY CAUSED A LOSS OF $50,000.00

Six Perished — Many Guests Injured In Jumping

LOOT OWNER'S HOME

Structure Was Entirely Destroyed By The Flames

$50,000 LOSS

A ghoulish incident happened during the fire. Marcello Lucchessi, owner, lives in the adjoining house to the hotel, and quite naturally, he was a very busy man. He noticed several people coming and going through his home, and thought they were part of the crew that was helping with the rescue work and fighting the flames. After the fire was controlled and the injured taken to the hospital, Mr. Lucchesi discovered someone had ransacked his home and stolen jewelry, watches and other valuables. The building loss has been estimated at $50,000.

Saved Her Life.

It is reported a man and his wife, guests in The Oaks Hotel, escaped from the burning building, but had to overcome a test few are called upon to go through. Both were badly injured. The wife became terrified and insisted she would not jump from the room they were in which was in flames and in which they had been sleeping.

Forced Her To Jump.

Doing everything he could to persuade his wife, to no avail, the husband when he saw they both would be cremated unless they acted instantly, forced his wife out of the room and compelled her to jump. Both husband and wife are very badly injured, as a result of their leaping from the window, but will, after a long time, recover.

Special Correspondence of The Press

FORT BRAGG, Oct. 1.—Undoubtedly the most appalling, in point of life loss, fire in Northern California in years, was the burning of The Oaks Hotel here Wednesday morning. It entailed six dead one missing and eight critically injured.

How Injuries Happened.

Leaps from the second floor in the flame brightened darkness accounted for most of the injuries. That was the only way of escape when flames choked the stairway

Cause Still Not Known.

The cause was today undetermined, but survivors believed the blaze started at the east end of the lobby or in the adjoining bar and at least one reported hearing an explosion. There was some question as to whether the explosion preceded the fire or occurred after the blaze started a lightning sweep through the two-story wooden structure.

Who Victims Were.

Those who perished were so badly burned, identification was difficult, but what is believed an authoritative list included::

Lester March, Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company engineer, living at 2618 Twenty-second avenue, San Francisco, where he had a wife and two children. One of his daughters is employed in the telephone company's accounting department.

Ben Daveto, Fort Bragg, fishing industry employe.

Mrs. Chester Sargent, 49, Eureka, and Wanda Sargent, 16, her daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Brighton, whose first names are unknown, who had come from Seattle and said they intended to buy a home in the vicinity.

Mrs. Sargent and her daughter had been visiting Chester Sargent, the husband and father, employed at a lumber plant.

Mr. March had been working with a line crew, including W. R. Noble and N. L. Boone, also of San Francisco. All three were quartered at The Oaks.

Gave The Alarm.

Mr. Boone informed telephone company officials at San Francisco he was awakened at 1:30 a. m. and smelled smoke. Investigating, he saw the fire and gave an alarm, but the flames spread so quickly the occupants of the

WAR END DOES NOT END NEED

War Chest Drive Now Starting—Situation Is Told

The last drive for funds for the California War Chest started this month and will end October 31.

Fall And Winter Feared.

Judge Lilburn Gibson in his appeal for funds said. "The Chest realizes the six months of the coming Fall and Winter will be one of the most critical periods in human history. This country aims to raise $115,000,000. We have won the military fight in Europe, but are virtually just beginning the fight against famine, pestilence and general distress, and the private agencies of the National War Fund have a special task to do what is indispensable and unique.

Must Aid Men.

"War is not yet over for our men in Europe and the Pacific. Our peace duty to them has just begun. Over 7,000,000 men are still in our armed forces in occupation zones and hospitals, here and overseas in the Pacific, to wait six to 18 months to come home. Their need of us to stand by is greater than ever. Victory has put a greater strain on the USO camp shows, canteens and clubs than the actual war.

Committees Confident.

"The local committee hopes you people, who are contacted either personally or by mail will quickly make a liberal contribution to this humanitarian cause. Make it a proud victory and a thankful contribution."

JUDGE LILBURN GIBSON SENT TO LOS ANGELES

The Judicial Council has directed Superior Court Judge Lilburn Gibson to go to Los Angeles and sit in trial of cases in that city for one month. Judge Gibson will leave next week for the southern city and will be absent the following 30 days. Judge Ben Jones, of Lake county, will look after court matters here during the absence of Judge Gibson.

A MODEL HOME WILL HOUSE A MODERN PLANT

Super-Service Station And Auto Sales Room Going Up

OLD OWNER RETIRING

Last Word In Ultra Business Place To Cost $15,000

A deal is being closed whereby a local investor will within a few days begin construction of a Super De Luxe Service Station on State street.

Nothing Overlooked.

The plans call for the last word in the line of gasoline handling and the construction will include erection of a modern garage and automotive salesroom for one of the major automobile lines.

Old Buildings Going.

The buildings now on the large lot will be removed and, as the news comes to The Republican Press, erection of a $15,000 super-service station unit will be operated by a local agent of the man who has the agency of the line of automobiles which have proven popular here in the past and for which salesrooms will be provided. The owner of the service station, who is to retire, has been in business many years and, some time ago, decided to quit.

In Good Hands.

The location of the plant, the purpose for which the new investment is being made, is ideal and the man financing the construction of the new station and the one he will have in charge of the service station both thoroughly understand the business which they propose expanding.

News Will Come Soon.

The whole deal has already been concluded, as The Press gets the facts, and publicity will be given by the parties interested within a short time.

HOPLANDER TO RETIRE FROM JUDICIAL POST

Judge G. A. Sturtevant Leaving Appellate Bench

IS TO LIVE IN VALLEY

Rumor Has It Mendocino Attorney May Be Named

Special Correspondence of The Press

HOPLAND, Oct. 1.—Judge Geo. A. Sturtevant, justice of the First State Appellate Court of California, has filed notice in Sacramento of his retirement, effective November 1. Judge Sturtevant, 79, has been an appellate justice since 1921, and was a superior judge in San Francisco from 1907 until 1921..

Home Is In Hopland.

For a great many years Judge Sturtevant has made Hopland his home, although his duties made it necessary for him to be in San Francisco the main portion of the time.

Disposed Of Ranch.

A few months ago Judge Sturtevant sold his ranch, just north of Hopland, and it is understood here he will make his home on the J. C. Crawford ranch he acquired several years ago. Judge Sturtevant has been eligible to retire on pension several years.

A Rumor Heard.

Out of the retirement of Judge Sturtevant arises an interesting rumor to the effect the vacancy caused by Judge Sturtevant's retirement may be filled by a Mendocino man, an attorney of the county, it is stated, may seek the position on the Appellate Bench and that the Mendocino county lawyer is a close friend of Governor Earl Warren, who has the appointive power.

Precedent Favors Man.

The fact the retiring jurist is a Mendocino county attorney, after a fashion, gives this section a claim on the office through the fact it was a Mendocino county filled office for years and a northern California man should be named to the place.

Early Day Teacher.

Before studying law Judge Sturtevant taught school in Mendocino county and a number of men now in the Ukiah Valley were pupils of his. Judge Sturtevant has made a fine judicial record and, while it is regretted Mendocino county, by his resignation, loses a member of the high state judiciary, there is a satisfaction in knowing he retires with a brilliant record.

COAST WOMAN IS ATTACKED

Two Men Entered A Mendocino Home In Assault Attempt

Two men entered the home of Mrs. Deena Rego on the north side of Ukiah street Friday afternoon about two o'clock and attacked her. She fought them off, but not until they had badly torn her clothes. She managed to get away from them and ran across the street to the MacCallum home and told what had happened. A member of the household ran to the Bishop store and notified Chet Bishop, who immediately went to the premises and searched the house and surroundings, but the men had gone, says The Mendocino Beacon.

Attack Was Reported.

Constable Enochs at the Caspar mill, was notified, also Mrs. Rego's husband, who is employed there, and immediately went home, and Officer Enochs is making every effort to run the men down. They said no word when they entered Mr. Enoch's home, and acted most queerly. There seems a possibility they are asylum escapees.

Can Give No Help.

Mrs. Rego was so unnerved by the experience she cannot give an authentic description of the men.

"POP" SMALL HAS A JOB WITH GOVERNOR

M. F. "Pop" Small, former owner of The Quincy weekly newspaper and who for some months has been doing special work for the United Press Association at Sacramento, has severed his connection with the United Press and has taken a job in Governor Warren's office. Mr. Small will handle matters in which the country press will be interested. "Pop" Small quickly got the reputation for writing articles with a human appeal to them and became one of the most popular of Capital correspondents. Mr. Small was here last week and was a caller at The Republican Press office.

CONDOLENCES SENT TO TALMAGE PARENTS

The parents of Herbert R. Brown, former Talmage boy, received a personal letter from General MacArthur expressing sorrow at their loss. General MacArthur stated the men on Bataan and Corregidor held beck the Japs so we might get ready to win a victory over them and return to the Philippine Islands. The Purple Heart was sent Mr. Brown's parents along with other honors. A card from General Marshall and one from General H. Arnold, of the Air Corps. The Chaplain of the Chico Air Base wrote a beautiful letter and an Air Corps officer from the Santa Rosa Air Base called on Mr. and Mrs. Brow nto see if Herbert's affairs were being taken care of. Herbert left his mother a $10,000 life insurance that will pay her $57.60 a month. The Brown's son, Frank, who is in France, is expected home before Christmas, or hopes to be. He has been overseas nearly three years. Mr. and Mrs. Brown to see if Herbert's Mrs. Brown are employed at Mendocino State Hospital.

DEADLOCK HAS CONTIINUED TO SERIOUS POINT

Wineries Have Not Receded From Earlier Offer

GRAPEMEN STAND PAT

Buyers Contend Need Of Grapes Reflected By Full Vats

Wineries have not changed their offers for grapes announced the first of last week. The quotations were: $70 for black and $85 for white grapes a ton, with an advance of $30 for picking, if desired. Members of the Grape Growers Association countered with a demand for $102 a ton.

As Situation Is.

In the meantime there has been a slight frost and grapes at El Robles and in Redwood Valley have been damaged somewhat. There is also to be reckoned with a chance of rain and additional frosts that may come. The vineyardists appear determined to stand by their set price demand and contend that, with added cost of cultivation this year, their figure is not an unreasonable one. From winery sources comes a story winery tanks are not at a point of depletion that will make it necessary to buy any large amount of grapes. The wineries allege wine sales last year did not materialize to the point anticipated. They hold that wine will not sell as it did before the high price of grapes and that people will not drink wine if it is unreasonably high.

Same In Sonoma.

The conditions involved in contentions over the price of grapes to be paid the vineyardists are said to be practically the same in Sonoma county as are prevailing here. However, if the rains hold off and there are no more frost it is probable no losses by weather will result, but everyone is hopeful the wineries and the vineyardists may get together and permit the full crop of grapes being harvested and sold satisfactorily.

COUPE, LIKELY BANDITS' CAR

Theft Of Machines Hints Of Trio Of Ex-Servicemen

While, according to The Mendocino Beacon, much evidence of the activity of three young men who assaulted a citizen at Fort Bragg, slugged a constable at Mendocino and stole a County pickup truck has been unearthed, all pointing to a link-up with the three supposed ex-servicemen who slipped through a cordon of officers posted by the Sheriff, the men, themselves, have gotten away. This is what The Mendocino Beacon says:

"The stolen Ford coupe in which the three ex-servicemen were driving when they drove into Two-Log was found this week by deer hunters. It had been driven off the road and covered with brush.

Not Seen Since.

"Since they were seen a week ago headed toward the coast on the Ukiah road driving in the county pickup which they hijacked on the Willits road, nothing has been seen of them, and they probably have moved out of this locality.

Two More Cars Stolen.

"A Chevrolet coupe belonging to Pascal Tovani, of Navarro, was stolen Monday afternoon of this week and a Packard car stolen from Fort Ross was abandoned in its place. The license plates of the two cars were exchanged.

Car Had Weapons.

"In the car stolen at Navarro were a 250-3000 Savage rifle, a 22 repeater rifle, a Luger automatic and a 12-gauge shotgun.

HIS DOUBLE-CHARACTER

THE MORE PRONOUNCED New Dealers are irritatingly denouncing correspondents who disclose bad-smelling incidents connected with the life of the late President F. D. Roosevelt. Those who print facts of a morally offensive nature are termed ghouls and they are depicted as ones who would besmirch the character of a dead man. The late executive loved to pose as a paragon of virtue. His sense of honesty was, he advertised it, 100 percent pure. He was the big brother of the little man and, what is more, he fooled most of them.

Calling attention to the masque Ex-President F. D. Roosevelt wore, Westbrook Pegler's analysis of F. D. R.'s duplicity along that line is illuminating and true. Mr. Pegler says:

"Mr. Roosevelt appealed for their votes and their confidence by certain professions of principle. He was, for example, an enemy of the 'public official who allows a member of his family to obtain fees or benefits through his political influence.' The people took him at his own word in this particular. If then, it can be shown he mocked his own words and ethics by permitting several members of his family to exploit his office for income far beyond their probably normal powers, should the generation now living cheat history and, indeed, deceive itself in its own judgments, by covering up evidence that he did? If it can be shown he contrived to throw a burden on the common man in order to relieve his own son of an enormous debt, what is the duty of the current historian as to that? And if evidence of that is concealed or allowed to vanish for lack of timely initiative, how can history, years afterward, reach a correct verdict? If, for all his denunciations of tax-dodgers and of 'clever little schemes having the color of legality,' Mr. Roosevelt left his own estate so organized his heirs could escape a certain inheritance tax, would examination of the facts here be sacrificed or conscientious reporting?

"Is it a violation of decency or a service to truth and history to point out that the most lavish giver of other people's money to the needy, even in foreign lands, himself, when he died, left $100 apiece to his personal employes, and he a millionaire, and provided for less than $20 a week for a loyal confidante and helper of many years' service? Agreed that history should be allowed to give the verdict, but it is impossible to produce a valid verdict from a one-sided case."

The latest development in the Elliott Roosevelt $200,000 loan and $4,000 settlement is that the money Mr. Roosevelt used to acquire his interest in the Texas radio system has developed a present approximate value of $1,500,000, yet he remains satisfied to do nothing toward repaying the $196,000 he still owes on the loan he got from the Chain store head!

TAX EVASION RACKET

A FRANK AND FAIR STATEMENT of the injustice involved in explanation of tax-exempt securities is found in an exchange which comments thusly:

"Back in the days when the average and low-income earner paid little or no income tax or other taxes, various tax-exemption dodges, such as tax-exempt securities, were of scant personal concern to millions of Americans. Now it is different! Withholding taxes and other levies slash deeply into the take-home income of every man and his neighbor. The man already taxed until it hurts is in no mood to dig still deeper to make up for the taxes the tax-dodger should pay.

"Curiously — and there are signs the public is becoming keenly aware of this — the chief tax-dodging offender today is the very government that levies taxes on all private industry and private citizens. The government, for instance, has gone heavily into the utility business. A government TVA is built with money collected by the government in taxes, but TVA is a tax-free enterprise, except for token payment designed to minimize public opposition. In California last year the Southern Edison Company paid $24,000,000 in taxes, and the Pacific Gas & Electric Company paid more than $44,000,000. If these utility services were part of a TVA government power monopoly, they would pay no taxes, and the $68,000,000-plus government now collects from them would have to be collected elsewhere, which means from tax-paying enterprises and individuals alrady taxed to the hilt.

"This particular tax-evasion device by government in America — and there are others — isn't even tolerated in England, now frankly socialistic. There publicly owned utilities share the tax burden of the industry with privately owned utilities. English taxpayers won't put up with the racket. In commoon justice, it appears that no agencies or individuals have the right — excepting only our war veterans, who have richly earned it, — to a special tax exemption. The American people — with taxes as they are now — may make that bluntly plain as time goes on."

Hope is the deadlock between winery owners and vineyardists on the price of grapes may be broken before Fall rains commence.

Fort Bragg is starting an agitation for better lighting of the streets of that city.

A big benefit card party for Sisters of the Abertinum at Ukiah is to be held right after harvests are ended.

Schools of Anderson Valley will open one week later than first announced to give boys a chance to work in the harvest of fruit and in the sawmills.

Scout Dens Planned And Aid Is Pledged Tuesday

Plans for recruiting Den Mothers and Den Dads for Ukiah Cub Pack No. 45 were made at the September 27 meeting of the pack committee of the organization to get under way for the year's activities. Ronald H. Rogers, chairman, presided, and Mrs. George Portlock was secretary at the session held at the Boy Scout office. To recruit Den Mothers and Dads, the parents of Cubs will be invited to a social evening this fall arranged by Den Mothers of the respective dens. Pack and den finances will be operated on the same plan as last year, each cub paying five cents per week, plus a 50 cent registration fee. All cubs must re-register to be eligible to participate. Boys who are nine and not over 11½ are eligibile and may sign up with Cubmaster Everett McNeill, who will endeavor to place them in a den or secure a Den Mother. The following persons were registered as cubbers: R. H. Rogers, chairman; Everett McNeil, Master; Joseeph F. Bigham, Robert E. Archibald, Harry M. Burke and Rev. Charles Lindemann, committeemen; Mrs. Portlock and Mrs. Bernice Moyer Den Mothers. Others will be registered later and all those concerned with boys of cub age are welcome to join the organization. FOG AND SMOKE WERE DISAGREEABLE SUNDAY

Mrs. Louise Bernhard, Mrs. Mabel Ames Smith, James Williams and Donald York motored to Fort Bragg Sunday where they enjoyed dinner. The trip over found the air filled with smoke from forest fires and fog. The party got but few glimpses of the sun throughout the day. Ordinarily Fall days along the coast are most delightful and people rave over the lovely outings they enjoy.

WERE ON COAST

Tax Collector George W. Davis and Mrs. Davis passed Saturday at Agate Beach Auto Court and enjoyed a pleasant weekend in that vicinity.

THIS LITTLE DOG STAYED HOME

(By P. Bracken)

Long before the family goes,
Infallibly, our puppy knows;
And knows too well the timeless, dim,
Unpeopled hours awaiting him.
Disconsolate, with drooping head,
He crawls forlorn beneath the bed.

But oh, what grim felicity
Will greet the rattling of our key!
His eager tail a swift brown blur,
With yips where small sad noises were,
He knows once more that life is sweet.
His bowl is full, his world complete,
Until tomorrow morning, when
We promptly break his heart again.

VISITING TEAM LOST LAMELY TO TALMAGE

Talmage won from Hunter's Point Dolphins Sunday by a score of 15 to 6 in a seven-inning game. The visitors arrived late for the contest on account of their bus having broken down at Santa Rosa. The Sluggers collected 13 hits off three pitchers for 14 runs while Mosna was holding the Hunter's Point Dolphins to seven hits and six runs. Talmage had a big inning in the second when it got six runs. The Dolphins were not much competition for the Sluggers.

Sidelights of Sadness

Being incidents connected with California's State Prisons as observed by A. R. O'Brien, editor of The Republican Press, while chairman of the State Board of Prisons of California

'THE AUTHORITY' HAS MADE ITS CONFESSION

The failure of properly handling offenses committed by boy and girl offenders has, at last, brought from the Youth Authority an acknowledgement of the break-down of a policy that, from its very inception, was foredoomed. The report, which was given to the public Tuesday states: "California Youth Authority facilities, as a group, were operating at only 62 below capacity during August and were only 83 below theoretical capacity at the end of the month, according to a report of Director Karl Holton."

Use of the words "Theoretical capacity' is amusingly illustrative of the whole false-foundation of the set-up. Theory!

The report goes on to say: "The average daily population in Youth Authority facilities increased during August from 1,666 wards to 1,688. This is an increase of 22 over the average for the previous month and 172 more than the average for August of last year. The Authority received 149 wards by court commitment. The number of wards under parole supervision continued to increase, the report said. Total at the end of August was 2,545, an increase of 83 for the month. Some 204 new cases were referred to the Youth Authority during August. Total number of cases awaiting delivery to the authority facilities at the end of August was 265."

Pampering boy hoodlums is not going to bring about any more reformation than does letting a boy, at home, do exactly as he sees fit, going to bring about a straightening of a headstrong lad. Let anyone who is desirous of ascertaining if crime, among young boys and girls has, even, been held at a standstill, study the crime records and they will forthwith be convinced the system here in California is all wrong. Five times as many high salaried heads of crime agencies as ever operated in this State before are holding sinecures and the cost of penal and reform institutions' upkeep jumped 42 percent. Granted part of this extra cost is due to war conditions, but the defense of the Youth Authority ends there.

Folsom prison today is the only California penitentiary that is being operated as it should be. In most reformatories of the present day, the term places for "run-away boys and girls" is true only when applied to the fact boys and girls run away from correctional homes — When it comes to 19 getting out of a single restraint home in a month the appalling mismanagement is apparent.

I know of no person with experience in handling criminals who would, if he had unrestrained authority to do so, want to exert cruel enforcing rules on boys or girls, men or women, under his charge, but what is being done here today is a travesty on justice. Hoodlums who try to start rioting in prisons are sustained by the higher authority and those in charge of institutions are removed or so censured as to destroy their authority and usefulness.

There is only one way to curb lawlessness: Sentence an offender justly. Make him serve his term. Make every offender do something, at least, toward earning his keep. Remove all the glamor features, like those prevailing at San Quentin, and compel those who refuse to go along at liberty in a law-abiding manner, understand that, when they go to a correctional institution, it will be to teach them law-breaking does not carry with it the easy life. Confining offenders and coddling them while so confined, simply makes it certain taxpayers are incubating vicious individuals who, as soon as they are released, will begin to put into effect lawlessness they learned while herded together. There is not a chance to reform boys and girls who are put out of circulation with nothing in the world to do, except, in their all-idle hours, absorb crime knowledge they can be taught by those with whom they will, while detained, mingle.

LODGE PRESENTS OFFICIAL A LOVELY GIFT

Mrs. Ethel Louderbeck
Of Orland, President of Rebekah Assembly of California

On the occasion of their official visit Monday evening, Olive E. Busch, District Deputy President, and Edith Alger, District Deputy Marshal of District 68, Rebekah Assembly of California, were entertained by their home organization, Cornelia Rebekah Lodge No. 205 at one of the loveliest meetings the lodge has held since the celebration of its Golden Jubilee, March 27, a year ago.

Noble Grand Bertha Ransdell presided with Gay Neep, Vice-Grand, with nearly a full corps of officers present. Every seat on the side lines was filled and extra chairs were brought in to accommodate the large outpouring of members and guests in attendance. Nearly every one present was in evening dress, making a beautiful and colorful scene. The 10 Past District Deputies who came to greet the Acting Deputy and her Marshal were Mecca McPeak, Rose Heckendorf and Aleica Cureton, of Lagunita Rebekah Lodge No. 248, Alice Gowan of Redwood Rebekah Lodge No. 390, Nellie Reed, of a Lake county Lodge, Ethel Humphrey of an Oregon Lodge, Anna David, of a San Francisco Lodge, and Katherine Foster, Jewyl Stipp, and Opal Burke, of Cornelia Lodge. Mecca McPeak is dean of District Deputy Presidents in this county and has accompanied the present District Deputy President on all of her official visits but one. Opal Burke was the Noble Grand who initiated Mrs. Busch into the Order and Aleica Cureton was the District Deputy President who installed her as Noble Grand of Cornelia Rebekah Lodge No. 205. Both of these events in lodge history are remembered as unusually beautiful ceremonies and were recalled in the reminiscent talks of the Deputies. Mrs. Busch was especially pleased to have her early home in Anderson Valley represented by Past District Deputy President Alice Gowan. Helen Bentley, Noble Grand of Lagunita Lodge, was very warmly welcomed by members of the local lodge.

Agnes Hollingsworth, who received her 25-year membership pin from this lodge last year, came up from the bay area to attend the meeting. Mrs. Gertrude Snyder, with whom the District Deputy President has traveled back and forth across the continent, was an honored guest at the meeting. Mrs. Snyder and Mrs. Busch have attended together meetings of Juanita Rebekah Lodge in Nicholson, Pennsylvania, of which Mrs. Snyder and her daughter, Mrs. Myrtle Oakley, are both Past Noble Grands. During the business meeting, Nelle Tranberg, formerly of San Jose, was admitted to membership by transfer. Annabelle Yates and Orozo Butler were elected to be admitted by initiation, which ceremony is scheduled to take place October 22. During the Good of the Order, the District Deputy President gave her instructions to the officers and recited the secret work. Mrs. Busch was presented by her home lodge a beautiful jewelry set of pin and earrings to match in gold and pearls. Past District Deputy Katherine Foster made the well worded complimentary presentation speech. Deputy Marshal Edith Alger was presented a lovely corsage of gardenias. Myrtle Eglin, a close friend of the Deputy President, was guest speaker of the evening. Taking for her subject "A Rondevous With Destiny," she traced the development of Democracy in English and American history and predicted what the future may hold for these countries in the postwar world. Mrs. Eglin was presented a corsage in the Rebekah colors.

A color scheme of gold and white, the official colors of Mrs. Busch's alma mater, the San Jose State College, prevailed throughout every decorative feature of the meeting. The lodge room was beautifully decorated with golden zinnias in tall white baskets. The gift of gold and pearls tied with gold and white ribbon, conformed to the beautiful color scheme.

In the dining room tables set in the form of an open rectangle were spread with white cloths and were most artistically and attractively decorated with garlands of smilax donated by Mrs. A. R. O'Brien, who is a Rebekah of 40 years standing. The tables were further adorned with golden pears and golden grapes representing the harvest season in Ukiah and were illuminated by tall golden candles in crystal holders. The color plan was further developed in the refreshment service of angelfood cake and ice cream in halves of golden cantaloupes. One advantage that was derived from the delay in the official visits caused by the illness of the District Deputy President was that they occurred in the peace period. The colors white and gold seemed to symbolize peace and brilliant future in the brave new world the United Nations are endeavoring to create.

The able hostess committee which made all the lovely arrangements for the meeting were Janie Dohring, chairman, Neva Hair, Katherine Foster and Gladys Dawson.

To See His Boy.

Radio Technician 1/c Charles Shimmin, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Shimmin, is on his way home from an island in the South Pacific where he was stationed at the time of the Japanese surrender. It will be a glad reunion. He will see his young son, Gary, for the first time and what a thrill that is to any young father!

Grape picking commenced on the George Poor ranch and will continue from there to the Williams ranch. Robert Buckman states he will start his harvesting around the first of October and hopes to have his regular crew on the job.

Mrs. Milo Zanoline accompanied by Mrs. Frank Howell, were business visitors at the county-seat Tuesday.

Fires Threatening.

The weather continues to be very warm in Sanel Valley during the day, but the early mornings are extremely cold with frost glistening on roof tops, fences and gardens. Fierce brush fires rage in the foothills and mountains, toward Lake county, and also toward Duncan's Peak, but are kept under control. No property damage is reported to date.

Mrs. Gladys Harpe visited her relatives here over the weekend, coming up from her home in Santa Rosa.

Carmel Zanoline passed Sunday with her parents, returning to Berkeley Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford and family have returned from a trip to Oregon where they visited relatives.

To Unite Family.

Little Barbara Ann Cooper, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Cooper, was two years old Wednesday. She is at present visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Field, while her mother, former Ruth Field, who graduated from Hopland high school some years ago, traveled to a nearby point to meet her husband, First Sergeant Lester B. Cooper, who has just arrived from the European area. Sergt. Cooper has not seen his little daughter since she was five months old. In The Ukiah Republican Press, issue of April 4, 1945, a very interesting letter was published. It was written by Sergt. Cooper to his wife and told of his sight-seeing trips in Paris. He was, no doubt, very homesick, as all of our boys are, and the family reunion will be a happy one.

Miss Dona Cox spent the weekend in Philo where she visited Mr. and Mrs. J. Reilly, parents of her fiance.

E. L. Williams and Bert Haskell went to Lassen county for a few days hunt. They reported "no luck."

Texans Wed Here.

A quiet and pretty wedding ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Ms. Ernest La Mastus, when S/Sgt. John Benson, brother of Mrs. La Mastus, was married to Miss Evelyn White Wednesday evening, with Rev. Wesley Tottingham, of Ukiah, officiating. Both young people are from Brownsville, Texas. The marriage vows were exchanged before an altar of white chrysanthemums and ferns. Matron of honor was Mrs. Ruby La Mastus, the groom's sister. Best man was Ernest La Mastus, brother-in-law of Mrs. Samuel White, of Brownsville, Texis. She was a teacher of English in that city's high school. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Benson, of Texas, and was recently returned from active service in the Pacific area. Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Benson spent the summer at the La Mastuus home here. The newly married couple left after the reception, for a brief visit with their parents in Brownsville, Texas. It is not known as yet where they will make their home. Following the wedding, a reception was held. The bride's table was spread in white with a centerpiece of early fall flowers. A beautiful wedding cake, with miniature bride and groom topping it, was cut by the happy couple. Mrs. Henry Cox and daughter, Dona, assisted Mrs. La Mastus in serving. The best wishes of this community go out to the young couple for future happiness and prosperity in the years to come.

Had Birthday Party.

A joyful occasion was the ninth birthday of little Joanne Brennen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Brennan, of Valley Oaks Farms, when her parents gave her a birthday party Thursday afternoon. The young guests gathered on the north porch of the Brennans' beautiful home. Streamers of pastel tinted crepe and other decorations were used on the long table upon which the happy children partook of delicious home-made cake and ice cream. The prize for "Pin-the-tail-on-the-donkey" was won by John Manning and Richard La Mastus. Games of every variety were played. Joanne had been looking forward to this ninth birthday many weeks and the realization exceeded the happy anticipation. Assisting Mrs. Brennan was Mrs. James Jardine, of Ukiah, who is often a visitor at the Brennan home. The little guests were Billy Crawford, Ronnie and Richard La Mastus, Pat and Marlene Hetzel, Shirley Rossetti, Ann McFarlane, Michael and John Manning, Frank Brennan, Jr., and the little hostess, Joanne.

Always Together.

They always are doing things together apparently — Norman Daniels of Hopland and C. L. (Jack) Jackson of Cloverdale. They were born on the same day, went through school together. And now both are learning how to fly, and they soloed on the same day, September 19. The two are students at the Thompson-Athey aviation school at the Sky Ranch near Lytton.

He is proud to think a man of his age can traverse the mountain paths as well as younger men. Other members of the party were Fred McKenzie, Roy Ford and Rod McKenzie, of Napa. They had good luck, plenty of venison and a wonderful outing.

MENDOCINO IS TOLD OF PLANS

Highway Commission Intentions Here Are Set Forth

The Highway Commission last week selected four projects in Mendocino County for definite advertising prior to June 30, 1946. These are:

1. Construction of a bridge across Rock Creek on Redwood Highway and the grading of two-lane approaches, the total construction cost of which, including preliminary and construction engineering and right of way, will be $147,500.

2. Construction of a bridge and approaches across Dooley Creek on the Talmage Road, State Route 16, the total construction cost of which, including preliminary and construction engineering and right of way, will be $37,700.

3. Grading and surfacing of 0.9 of a mile of State Route 56 at Slick Rock Bridge at a construction cost, including engineering, of $94,000.

4. Construction of a bridge and approaches at Blue Slide Gulch on the Coast Road, State Route 56, now under way, at a cost of $74,800, including preliminary engineering.

One Is Starting.

One Mendocino project in the postwar program already has been advanced by the opening of bids and is pending award of contract. This entails the construction of a bridge and approaches at Alder Creek on the Coast Road, State Route 56, at a cost of $196,206.15, including preliminary engineering.

Will Be Built.

Other Mendocino projects in the postwar program and their estimated cost, including preliminary and construction engineering and rights of way where required, are:

The grading and surfacing of portions of Redwood Highway for a distance of 4.6 miles and the construction of a side-hill viaduct between Red Mountain Creek and Piercy—$683,000.

The grading and surfacing of 10.2 miles and the construction of a bridge across Forsythe Creek between 1.5 miles south of Forsythe Creek and Ridgewood Summit—$1,789,500.

The construction of two bridges and 2.5 miles of two-lane approaches across Mitchell and Hare creeks on Coast Highway, State Route 56—$485,000.

Underpass Betterment.

In addition the Highway Commission has a deferred project in Mendocino which will be given priority and which calls for the grading and surfacing of 0.8 of a mile of two lanes of Redwood Highway from the Northwestern Pacific Railroad to the Underpass at a construction cost of $142,000, including preliminary and construction engineering and right of way.

C. M. WALLACH'S CONDITION IS NOT IMPROVING

Patient Will Likely Be Removed To The City Today

PROVIDED RED CELLS

Blood Bank Supplies Forwarded Here Regularly

Special Correspondence of The Press

ANDERSON VALLEY, Oct. 1.—Charles M. Wallach, who has been seriously ill at the home of his brother, Guss Wallach, in Ukiah, the past two weeks, was moved last week to Ukiah General Hospital and present plans are to move him to Franklin Hospital in San Francisco within a few days. His daughter, Mrs. Naomi Mead, of San Francisco, and his son, Frank Wallach, who is in service, were called home and arrived Wednesday. Mrs. Frank Wallach, of San Francisco, accompanied her husband. Frank arrived at Fort Ord from Texas Sunday evening and expects to be shipped out in the near future. He was given a 12-day furlough to visit his father and he and his uncle, Guss Wallach, will take his father to San Francisco. There has been same delay, due to the crowded conditions in hospitals, in San Francisco, but arrangements have finally been completed and he will be placed under the care of a specialist very soon, and we trust will shortly be improving.

Providing Red Cells.

For the past 10 days shipments of "red cells" have been delivered at Ukiah by Greyhound bus to a Ukiah doctor, who is administering them to Charles Wallach, of Boonville. Boonville residents will be happy to learn this has been made possible because of the active part they have taken in supporting the Mobile Unit of the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank when it has visited Ukiah. Mendocino county has actually pioneered in this activity, as it is one of the few counties in California that has created such a service for its citizens through this activity. A nation-wide effort is being made to establish this type of project and in Mendocino county it has existed since May, 1943.

Landmark Burned.

Flames, which started from a fire in the field, totally destroyed the house and other buildings of what is known as the Burkhardt place Tuesday afternoon. The ranch has changed hands twice since the Burkhardts owned it and the present owner is H. C. McGlauflin, who operates a feed store in Petaluma. The house was a valley landmark and was built by the late George T. Clow, of Willits. It was the Clow home many years and was about three miles north of Boonville and a short distance off the main highway.

Gate Hampered.

The McGlauflin family had passed most of the summer here but no one was at the place Tuesday. The fire had swept from the field to the back of the house when discovered and as volunteer firefighters reached the gates leading to the place the back of the house ignited, but their progress was halted by the gates being locked and valuable time was lost breaking through. Some of the men were carrying equipment on their backs and had they been able to drive through the gates to the house, instead of getting out and walking up, they probably could have saved the dwelling. A few things were removed from the house but nothing of value was saved. Improvements made on the place since Mr. McGlauflin bought it are said to have run into several thousand dollars and insurance is reported to have been about a quarter of the value of the place. An insurance adjuster was here Friday to check the loss. Mr. McGlauflin came up Wednesday after being advised by telephone of the fire.

Mr. and Mrs. Newel Rawles of Ukiah passed the weekend here, guests of Mr. Rawles parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Rawles, and Mr. Rawles enjoyed a hunt and, according to report, brought down a nice buck.

Mrs. Iverson, of Point Arena, is houseguest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. W. H. Clay, and is visiting with friends made here on former visits.

Has Opened School.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Stearns arrived Friday from Santa Rosa. Mrs. Stearns opened the Indian Creek school this week and has taken a cottage on the McPhail place. Mr. Stearns, who is an aviation machinist's mate 2 c, is on leave until October 12, when he reports back to the Santa Rosa Naval Base.

Bobby Georgeson entertained a group of small friends Friday afternoon in honor of his birthday. Games and refreshments were the order of the day.

Had Bad Loss.

Fire of an unknown cause destroyed the apple dryer on the John L. Prather ranch in the Yorkville section Wednesday Besides the building, a tractor and valuable tools and a considerable amount of green and dried apples and dried pears were lost. The ranch is being operated by Mrs. Charmain Prather, daughter-in-law of John L. Prather. She had not had a fire in the yer that day. The fire was discovered about 11p.m. and they are unable to determine how it could have started. Besides drying the apples on the home

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Americans have a word for it

Bill Larkin's boy, who's back from overseas for good, was telling us about the funny customs and the different languages of European countries.

One thing he noticed is that in so many of those countries there is no word for "home," "House," yes . . . or "building." But no name that stands for what we mean when we say home.

"In spite of the fact," says Bill, "that it's the most important thing there is . . . a place where you can take your shoes off and let down your hair . . . enjoy a glass of beer before the fire and relax with folks you love!"

From where I sit, that may be an important difference between this country and some others. The conception of home as a place of tolerance and sacred loyalties—where differences of habit and opinion give way before love and understanding! Yes, we Americans have a name for it!

Our sincere thanks to all of you who helped

As America turns from war's destruction to the constructive activities of peace, we of Northwestern Pacific wish to send our sincere thanks to all who helped us do our share of America's gigantic wartime transportation job.

We were able to handle our load successfully because of the great work of railroad men and women up and down the line, and with the help and cooperation of thousands of people not actually working for our railroad.

To the military and government authorities; to our passengers and shippers who were tolerant of wartime disruptions in service; and to the press, who recognized our difficulties and explained them to the Public—our heartfelt thanks.

OAKS TRAGEDY CAUSED A LOSS OF $50,000.00

Six Perished — Many Guests Injured In Jumping

LOOT OWNER'S HOME

(Carried from Page One)

second floor were trapped. There was nothing to do but jump if they were to survive.

Started At 1:30 A.M.

In The Fort Bragg Advocate there is found the following account of the burning of The Oaks Hotel: "The fire started a little after 1:30 Wednesday morning and before the first alarm was sounded flames covered the first floor of the hotel. Firemen did heroic work trying to save tenants, and one fireman, Sammy Larson, is in Redwood Coast Hospital with a broken leg, suffered when he was blown off a ladder.

Six Bodies Found.

"There are six known dead, but at this early hour only one body has been identified and that is only tentative. Friends of Ben Daveto, who worked at Noyo, claim one of the burned bodies is that of Mr. Daveto. Three other bodies have been recovered, but there is a possibility others will be found when the debris is removed. The building is still burning, and rescue work is dangerous.

Among The Injured.

"Six patients are in Redwood Coast Hospital receiving treatment for injuries and shock received when they jumped from the burning building. Some are seriously injured with possible broken backs and internal injuries, but again, at this hour, it was not possible to get the exact list of fatalities. The injured include Sam Larson, local fireman, who broke his leg and suffered minor abrasions and concussion; Dr. Burt McCreery, Eureka, possibly fractured right ankle; Mrs. Burt McCreery, possible fractured spine—She was taken in with complete paralysis of both legs but her condition is clearing at present; Ray Gynn, Santa Rosa, severe lacerations on face, bad right foot injury and left ankle; Henry Marion, possible fracture right foot and left heel; Mrs. Wm. R. Hunter, Eureka, possible fracture right wrist, both ankles and back; Wm. R. Hunter, possible fracture left wrist.

An Excellent Hotel.

"The Oaks Hotel was a popular stopping place for traveling men and was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Marcello Lucchesi. The hotel was modern and the owners have spent considerable money in remodeling. It contained 26 rooms and, at the time of the fire, 25 rooms were occupied. According to the best information available at the present time 32 tenants were in the hotel. Of this number, 27 have been accounted for.

Cause Not Known.

"According to advices from the firemen, the fire started either in The Oaks Cavern, adjoining bar, or in the eastern end of the hotel lobby. There are two factions in the city, one trying to get the scalp of the chief. Members of the city council are backing the chief.

These packages will be delivered at Christmas time to members of the armed forces that are in hospitals or on the high seas. Special arrangements are being made at this time to guarantee Christmas gifts to boys who would otherwise not receive them. Mail service to members of the armed forces becomes delayed, due to the fact movement of troops is ahead of postal departments. The Camp and Hospital Council has made arrangements with the armed services to have packages on every ship that is on the high seas at Christmas time, and to have the hospitals packed with packages at the same time.

Want Coast Hifhway Near Ocean.

For some time residents of the coast have been agitated about the re-alignment of the Coast Highway, which is one of the projects to be taken up shortly. Several surveys have been made, some of which are miles removed from the ocean shoreline and this is the cause of the trouble. Last week the Chamber of Commerce received a letter from State Park Commissioner Chas. Kasch which explains itself: "I read a report on your last meetiing, in The Fort Bragg, Advocate, wherein it is stated you passed a resolution suggesting that any realignment work done on the Shoreline Highway be on the most westerly survey, it being your thought the Shoreline Highway should follow the shoreline and not be built where the ocean could not be seen. In this connection, I am taking the liberty of calling to your attention a law passed at the last session of the Legislature which enables the Division of Highways, in acquiring rights-of- way for highways which are within three hundred feet of the shoreline to acquire the entire strip and then to turn over the portion not immediately needed for highways to the State Park Commission. Let me suggest your Chamber of Commerce give thought to this measure in connection with the realignment of the Shoreline Highway, as it might afford an excellent opportunity for public use along the Mendocino county coast line. Since the Division of Highways has the power now to acquire this land it would seem to me a strong argument for realigning the highway within 300 feet of the shore when practical."

A SAN DIEGO COUPLE BUYS HENRY BOLD RANCH

ISSUES WARNING TO USERS OF TOUTED DDT

Those who buy the much touted DDT insecticide are warned to read the label and have caution in its use. Allen B. Lemmon, of the State Bureau of Chemistry, points out the tremendous publicity given this chemical while its use was restricted to the armed forces has created a customer demand of great proportions. The rush of manufacturers to formulate their products and prepare acceptable labels has almost been a stampede. DDT, he points out, is known to have a number of undesirable qualities. It is poisonous to animals. Its indiscriminate use may kill beneficial insects and result in more damage than the pests would have done.

One Man's Opinion.

Pfc. John A. Boni has written an interesting letter from Yokohama, Japan. Among other things he said: "Have found things in Japan peaceful so far. However, I don't like it here, as most of the people live like rats. The stench in many villages nearly turns one's stomach although there are other cities that are quite clean. We live in huge barracks near the sea that were once used as a Jap military school. Our beds are made of wood and oh, my aching back! One thing they have is beautiful gardens and every bit of ground is utilized with women and children doing most of the work. Methods of travel are very primitive. No passes are issued here and I personally don't care about going to town anyway as I dislike the sneaky ways the Japs have and don't want to be around them as I still want to get home some day. The trip from Okinawa was quite pretty. We cruised along at 150 miles and could see every thing below very clearly, passing over many of the islands."

Is The Closed Shop Necessary?

As debated by

Herbert S. Thatcher
Associate Counsel, American Federation of Labor

Maurice R. Franks
National Business Agent; Editor, "The Railroad Workers Journal"

MR. THATCHER OPENS: The closed or union shop is a more than necessary institution in any industrial society wherein the right of self-organization is not unequivocally recognized or the principle of collective bargaining wholeheartedly accepted. Experience demonstrates the union shop constitutes the most effective means of attaining or securing (1) job security and protection from employer discrimination by removal of motives to discharge or demote because of union activities; (2) equality of bargaining power, with consequent betterment of working conditions, by insuring labor a united front in the contest for a fair share of the products of capital and labor; (3) protection of working standards by preventing cut-throat wage competition of non-union employees; (4) equality of sacrifice by insuring that all who enjoy union wage and working conditions achieved through years of struggle and deprivation shall share in the costs of such benefits as members of the union rather than as "free riders"; (5) an increased measure of union responsibility for obligations under collective bargaining agreements by providing a means of imposing disciplinary action; (6) elimination of jurisdictional strife by safeguarding against raids and other disruptive tactics of rival unions; (7) labor-management cooperation by eliminating the suspicion and hostility which often characterizes the initial stages of employer recognition, thereby freeing union energies and resources for constructive cooperation rather than defensive sparring.

MR. FRANKS CHALLENGES: My opponent's argument that the closed shop is "a necessary instrument in any industrial society" is erroneous and misleading when we consider that the most powerful unions operate effectively without the closed shop. I refer to the railroad unions—the strongest, most effective, powerful and respected labor unions in the United States. They do not operate under the closed shop system and their record shows conclusively that in the 19 years since 1922, with not a single strike. Better [illegible] and working conditions are by far the greatest of their respective craft. They have been sold on this from a meritorious standpoint and their loyalty goes unchallenged.

MR. THATCHER REPLIES: The railroad situation is not relevant because these collective bargaining and worker protection are guaranteed under criminal penalties and compulsory arbitration substituted for strike thus lessening necessity for action to be achieved under the union shop. Further, the railroad unions' [illegible] security clauses governing all hiring and promotions afford equivalent protection. As stated in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Journal, 1944: "The closed shop in industry bears the same relation to the shop craft unions as the senior rule does to the train service brotherhoods. They are the backbone of both, and, if either is broken down, they are no longer effective for collective bargaining."

MR. FRANKS OPENS: Call it what you may, closed shop or "union maintenance", this system when examined is the "yellow dog" contract in reverse. Only now the leash is in the hands of labor leaders instead of employers. Organized labor itself has, knowingly or not, fought the closed shop system practiced by employers in the recent past, but under a different guise. I refer to the so-called "open shop" which, in reality, was a closed shop. This system forced workers to sign contracts NOT to join unions for the right to work. This legalistic mockery became known as the "yellow dog" contract when a certain worker with intestinal fortitude was asked to sign such a contract as a requisite of employment. Upon examining same, he retorted, "I would not ask a yellow dog to sign such a contract". Samuel Gompers and many labor leaders of his time spent considerable effort in arousing public opinion against the "yellow dog" contract on the premise that it was not only unfair, but un-American, to deprive workers of their right to earn a living because of union affiliation. Therefore, by this same token it becomes unfair and un-American to deprive them of a living for NOT joining a union.

MR. THATCHER CHALLENGES: The all-union shop can be compared with the open shop only by denying the principle of self-organization. Surely, there is a higher right in union employees to seek equality of bargaining power by insisting that all join in the common struggle than in an employer to seek unilaterally to dictate terms of employment and foreclose collective bargaining. When a non-union employee is required to join with his fellow union workers, he is not deprived of the right to work in the abstract but only of the right to work without sharing in the mutual sacrifices necessary for joint protection and advancement.

MR. FRANKS REPLIES: The closed shop is also undemocratic because it makes labor leaders industrial dictators. Their slightest whims must be satisfied or their wrath felt through dictatorial discipline; depriving workers of their right to earn a living if demands are not acceded to. Records disclose where workers under a closed shop were deprived employment for voicing opinions contrary to their leaders'. Competent workers have lost their jobs for refusing to pay exorbitant initiation fees, dues, assessments and for many more unjust reasons. Yes, the closed shop is truly named, closed to everyone not in the good graces of the "powers that be"—the labor dictators.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Pesola, of Berkeley were Sunday guests at the attractive home of Mr. and Mrs. Nester Taskinen.

All Is Destroyed.

S/Sgt. Porter Willis, of the 11th Airborne troops stationed at Astugi Air Base, Japan, writes of a trip to Yokohama and Tokyo and describes the utter desolation of the two places where everything is laid waste for miles upon miles and heavy machinery that marks the site of once thriving industries that are now without even a partial wall of the buildings standing. He does not waste much time in regret over the conditions there though. He met the Japs in hand-to-hand combat in the Philippines and has no sympathy to waste on them.

To Enter U. C.

Guests at the Homer Mannix home here are his brother and wife, Captain and Mrs. William C. Mannix, who are here for a short visit. Captain Mannix has received his discharge and is planning to take advantage of the G-I bill of rights and continue his schooling. Probably at the University of California. Mrs. Mannix may enroll, also. Captain Mannix served as a pilot on a fortress from an England Air Base and was awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Air Medal and several Oak Leaf Clusters. He was returned to his country and was training on the B-29s when Japan surrendered. Captain and Mrs. Mannix were married a few months ago, after his return from England. $300,000,000 which had been saved for postwar construction will be spent on solid projects with no "boondoggling" and expressed confidence in the ability of the State to solve its problems. Resume Northern Trip.

Following the Ukiah luncheon the party, accompanied by Mendocino county supervisors, inspected highways and groves along the Redwood Highway to Scotia where it passed the night after an informal dinner and "open house" at Scotia Inn. The next day it proceeded through Humboldt county, guided by the board of supervisors, to Del Norte county to Crescent City where the Chamber of Commerce and Delightful Del Norte, Inc., were co-sponsors at another overflow luncheon at The Hotel Lauff, presided over by W. The California Fish and Game Commissioners were also guests at this affair.

Presented Redwood Bowl.

Toastmaster was E. P. McKenzie, vice-president of the association for Humboldt county, who introduced besides members of the official party, the following speakers: Senator Irwin T. Came For Funeral.

Satisfied With Pumper.

The new pumper fire truck has passed all tests and is, beyond question, the best fire fighting equipment of any small town in this part of the state. During the test it pumped 750 gallons a minute at 120 pounds pressure. It did this for three hours and at one time did even better—1078 per minute. During the tests Willits had visitors from both Ukiah and Fort Bragg fire departments and also representatives of the company which sold the truck.

Celebration Dinner.

In order to celebrate properly all of Willits firemen and families and visitors were given an elaborate dinner at Quadrio Park. The new truck has been accepted by the city and this gives Willits three pumpers and our insurance rates will probably be reduced.
